Lenroot May Have Solved Treaty Tangle

DEADLOCK MAY BE BROKEN AND PRESIDENT'S OBJECTION MET BY COMPROMISE OF WIS. SENATOR

Bryan Joins in Negotiations Urging Ratification; Further Democratic Gains Are Being Claimed.

(By Associated Press)

Washington, March 17.—Following the introduction of a new reservation to the peace treaty by Senator Lenroot intended to replace the more definite international pledges of Article Ten, claims were made of further democratic gains for ratification with the republican qualifications attached.

The new reservation drafted by Senator Lenroot declares the United States would view "with grave concern" any threat against the peace of Europe and would consider what action it would take in the premises. While not many members of the administration have had opportunity to study the reservation and its effect, some senators predicted that its adoption would palliate resentment over the reservation to Article Ten which President Wilson has declared would "cut the heart" from the league of nations.

Debate Forestalls Vote.

Debate has forestalled efforts to agree on a date for the ratification vote.

W. J. Bryan arrived here today from Florida enroute to New York to deliver an address Friday night and immediately became a participant in the eleventh hour negotiations of democratic senators working for a compromise on the treaty.

Although Mr. Bryan said he did not intend to visit the senate or influence the debate, democratic senators began to consult him before he had finished breakfast.

He Urges Ratification.

Mr. Bryan gave out another statement urging ratification of the treaty.

"For democratic senators to join with the 'irreconcilables' in defeating the treaty," he said, "is unthinkable in advance of its being actually accomplished and it would be unspeakable afterwards."

Mr. Bryan said it would be "suicidal" for the democratic party to deny the right of a majority of the senate to declare the senate's policy.

Upholds Right of Majority.

"We have the right to appeal to the people to reverse the decision," he said, "but we have no right to resist that majority to prevent the people speaking through their representatives."

The democratic party cannot hope to make much headway combatting the fundamental principle on which it stands.

Continuing to clear the way for final action the senate choked off a St. Patrick's Day debate on the Irish question by voting 54 to 21 to proceed to declare that Great Britain should proclaim Ireland free.

The motion to table was made by Senator Kellogg, republican, and was defeated by a vote of 21 to 54.

"Thirty republicans, 34 democrats voted for the motion, while 14 democrats and republicans opposed it," Kellogg said.

The Irish declaration was proposed by Senator Shields, democrat, Tennessee, as an amendment to Senator Owen's reservation declaring that the British protectorate over Egypt was to be considered a war measure only.

The new reservation itself and all proposed amendments including that by Senator Thomas, Washington, and another by Senator King, democrat, Utah, providing for freedom for the Philippines, Porto Rico, the Virgin Islands and Hawaii.

Senator King said he offered his amendment merely to show how ridiculous the senate was making itself.

The following senators voted against the motion to table: (REPUBLICANS)—Borah, Brandegee, France, Hanna, Jones of Washington, La Follette, and Norris. (DEMOCRATS)—Ashurst, Henderson, Hitchcock, Johnson of South Dakota, McCallister, Nugent, Overman, Quinn, Reed, Sheppard, Shields, Walsh of Mass., and Wolcott.

Killed Reed Reservation.

An attempt to revive the Irish issue failed in the senate voting 46 to 21 to table a reservation proposed by Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri.

Under this reservation the league council might recommend by a three-fourths vote the release of any country held "by the superior power of another nation."

The republicans joined with 16 democrats in voting to table the Reed reservation, while six republicans and 15 democrats voted against tabling.

The senate next rejected, 51 to 15, a reservation introduced by Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, similar to the Owen reservation, relating to Egypt.

WOOD URGES TAXES BE CUT AS AID TO TRADE

Presidential Candidate Gives Address in Dakota; Hays in Virginia.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Redfield, S. D., March 17.—The excess profit tax and certain other taxes must be eliminated because they are "paralyzing initiative at a time when we need it," General Leonard Wood declared in a speech here today.

The war debt, he said, should be distributed over a longer period of years to assist the nation to prepare American soldiers through lessening its present burdens.

Advocates Learning Spanish.

American business, both at home and abroad, must be encouraged if it is to meet English competition, he said. General Wood advocated general teaching of the Spanish language to prepare American soldiers to enter the South American markets.

We must not be afraid of encouraging business, no matter how big it is, he said in part. "In recent years the opinion has grown in this country among certain classes of people that business is bad business and should be suppressed. No matter how big a business is, if it is good business, it should be encouraged."

Private Initiative Needed.

"America has been developed almost wholly by private initiative and we must continue to encourage private initiative for our future development. The nationalization of industry could mean the curbing of private initiative, and lead to national decadence."

SHORT LIVED BERLIN DICTATORSHIP IS ENDED

Reins of Power Released as Extreme Radicalism Is Asserted.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Berlin, March 17.—It was officially announced that Chancellor Kapp at one o'clock this afternoon decided to resign.

Wartime leader Kapp firmly to the left, he said, and Baden, Bavaria, Hesse and Saxony as well as the whole of northwest Germany also take their stand on the imperial constitution and adhere to it. Only in provinces east of the Elbe have the insurgents so far found any following, but the following is being recruited from the old Prussian reactionaries.

President Ebert is quoted as asserting matters were shaping themselves in favor of his government.

When Kapp's resignation was announced, the news was received with relief in the German capital.

London, March 17.—Machine gun firing was heard in Berlin between 11 and 12 o'clock last night, says a message today from the German capital.

When a detachment of soldiers passed through the Brunostrasse, headed by a band, workmen charged the troops and a shooting ensued in which a number of men were killed and others wounded, the message adds.

At Spandau, 60 persons, nearly all workmen, were reported killed and the fighting is continuing.

The correspondent reports that big trucks are constantly passing through the streets loaded with armed soldiers who point their guns in the direction of the sidewalks.

VIOLENT AGITATION FOR RED RULE GRIPS NATION SHAKEN BY REVOLT; REBEL MOVE DOOMED TO FAILURE

Alliance With Russian Communists Under Way; Spartacan Elements Seize Chance to Stir up Disorders.

(By Associated Press.)

London, March 17.—Independent socialists and communists in Germany have commenced a violent agitation in favor of a soviet republic and an alliance with soviet Russia, according to a Berlin dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company.

CONDITIONS GROWING WORSE

Paris, March 17.—Conditions in Germany have been growing worse during the last 24 hours, it was indicated by dispatches reaching this city late last night. While there is little doubt the reactionary movement headed by Dr. Kapp will be a fiasco, the general strike weapon which the Ebert regime has been obliged to use against it is casting the country into greater confusion.

Spartacan elements have seized the opportunity to stir up as much trouble as possible and disorders in many parts of Germany are attributed to the activities of these "stormy petrels."

Day's Events In Germany

The Kapp administration at Berlin, realizing the futility of attempting to hold the reins of power, has decided to give up its short lived dictatorship. At 1 o'clock this afternoon, Berlin time, Chancellor Kapp decided to resign, according to official advices from the German capital.

Radicalism Asserted.

The forces of extreme radicalism are asserting themselves in various German towns and are increasing Spartacan disorders and growing talk among the radicals on the possibility of utilizing the present disturbed conditions to establish soviet rule.

The list of killed reported from numerous German towns and cities in clashes between demonstrators and troops is mounting into the hundreds.

There has been no direct confirmation of last night's reports of 400 killed in a bombardment of Kiel by a warship but there are apparently veracious reports of 100 killed and 300 wounded at Dresden, probably the result of a warship attack on the city.

Expect Ebert Restoration.

Expressions of confidence in the speedy restoration of the Ebert government to complete control, come from the headquarters of that government in Stuttgart.

Minister of Defense Noske is quoted as declaring he expects with the aid of his troops to secure the return of normal conditions in six or eight days.

NEGOTIATIONS HELD.

There is no doubt the Ebert government, appalled by the economic consequences of a prolongation of the existing conditions, is negotiating if not with the coterie led by Dr. Kapp at least with conservatives who have been careful not to identify themselves with Dr. Kapp. A combination of forces making for restoration of order as rapidly as possible may be brought about. How far political parties are masters of the situation is a mooted point. The next few days will demonstrate whether it is possible to stem the tide of disaster in Germany.

Pear Spartacan Uprising.

News from Berlin and other German points telling of anti-soviet clashes at Essen, Dortmund, Leipzig, Mannheim, Frankfurt and Brunswick together with a report that a council of workmen had issued power to Chemnitz, has given the impression here that there is more to be feared from a revival of the Spartacan movement than from the activities of the Kapp government in Berlin.

According to the latest dispatches the military movement has resulted in the speedy restoration of order. The Spartacans are reported to have risen in Dresden where a clash with troops is declared to have resulted in a casualty list of 100 dead and 300 wounded. Fighting in Breslau, Mamburg and Kiel also is reported.

Camera Men Finally Get Wilson Snap

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, March 17.—Photographers were permitted to take their first pictures of President Wilson today since his return from his western trip last September. The president was photographed as he left the White House grounds on his fifth automobile trip since he went to bed in October, "a very sick man."

Under instructions from the White House the police allowed several moving picture operators and photographers to set up their machines at the south-west gate and as the president's automobile came out the chauffeur slowed down. The president laughed at the camera men who then hurriedly changed their positions so as to get additional pictures.

The camera men had been waiting many weeks for these pictures. Their first attempt was made soon after the president was permitted to go on every day since he was treated by secret service men, who suspected the purpose of a wagonload of hay which passed down Executive avenue with the president in it.

The picture makers were on hand when Mr. Wilson took his first ride about 10 days ago and every day since then the police intervened.

The president was accompanied by his wife today by Mrs. Wilson and Rear Admiral Grayson, his physician.

Mentions that the Kappists have come to Stuttgart as quickly as possible."

It developed that the boy went to a show last night and stayed at another house rather than go home. Upon his failure to report at the Garfield school this morning police notified officials in near-by cities to look for him. It was thought he might have been kidnapped.

London.—Premier Lloyd George's plan of two wings of the coalition into a new party met an unexpected check yesterday, according to the London Times, when he privately addressed a group of members of the ministry and urged that it was impossible at present to establish a purely liberal government and that the liberals were to share in moulding events at this critical time, they could only do so in association with others.

FARMERS DEFENDED BY COUNTY AGENT

Glascos Declares They Are Not Responsible for Existing High Prices.

Farmers are not responsible for the high cost of living, in fact they are losing money with present prices paid them for their products and cannot understand why there is not an equal drop to the consumer. This statement was made by R. T. Glasco, county agent, today, in an article which he has prepared in defense of the farmer.

"City folks are likely to think that the farmer is reaping the profit of high prices of food and clothes," states Mr. Glasco, "and it will surprise them to learn that many farmers are losing money nowadays in trying to produce goods."

Corn Still at 40 Cents
"For instance, corn is selling on Chicago market for around 15 cents a bushel. At Janesville, they bring about 13 cents a bushel. They have dropped from the high price of 22 cents a bushel to 15 cents, yet we have not noticed any appreciable reduction in the price of pork chops, which are now selling for 40 cents a pound, the price we have paid for quite a while.

"Cattle selling on the Chicago market for 14 cents a pound for the best. We pay 35 cents a pound for best beef in Janesville. The price of pork chops has dropped from $100 to $1,000 on this business transaction. He probably bought them for around 11 1/2 cents a pound, consequently, feeding them high priced corn he has lost.

Little Profit in Wool
"The suit of clothes which costs all the way from $10 to $50 seems to be an article on which the farmer as the producer of wool ought to make a good profit. In the clothing, a suit of clothes made from the best wool costing approximately $5.25, the farmer receives a very small amount for the price for which the suit is retailed.

"The March price for milk to the producer is $2.00 for a hundred pounds or 2 cents a pound. The price of milk weighs approximately two pounds, therefore the farmer receives 5.5 cents a quart. As milk is selling in Janesville for 14 cents a quart it can be readily seen the farmer is not getting rich on producing milk.

Feed Is High
"Feed for dairy cattle has been going up all winter. If the farmer feeds his cows bran he will have to pay $60 a ton. If he feeds them oil meal, which is essential, it will cost him $1 a ton. Last year corn was kept on 25 dairy farms in Michigan. It was found it cost $4.95 a 100 to produce milk on these farms. The cost of feed was considerably lower then, so at the present price of $2.20 a 100 the farmer is losing $1.15 per 100.

"In south western Iowa a survey of farms was made by the Agricultural college in the spring of 1919. On 312 farms it was found that the cost $16.30 per hundred of feed to produce pork. If this pork is sold at 12 cents there is also another considerable loss to the producer. The question is probably asked why the producer continues to play this losing game. The answer is, he does not realize until it is too late that he is losing money. If he is in his business to produce food he keeps it up regardless of the profit or loss.

Labor Scarce and High
"The farm labor question is getting so serious many farmers are reducing their output. They realize that with farm labor costing so much they cannot hope to make a profit. Employers are being forced to pay high prices paid to factory men are taking the producers from the farm. There will have to be a change some place along the line or the price of food stuff will be considerably higher in the future.

"We have learned that 25,000 farm hands have formed a union. This union is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. The object of this union is to get higher wages for farm laborers. A large number of farmers have decided to cut down their production to what they can do themselves. This union with many others makes the situation of the farmer a difficult one at this time.

Farmers Are Tricked
"The question which puzzles the farmer most is why the price of retail products which he produces does not go down when he is constantly receiving a lower price. He does not see why the consumer is not given the benefit of his loss."

House Being Moved Across River Sinks When Ice Gives Way

[By Associated Press.]
Marquette, March 15.—A house, known in the Twin Cities as the Sawyer residence, being moved across the river from Minneapolis to this city, broke through the ice and sank in five feet of water. About two weeks ago, the moving began, but runners of the sledges on which the house was being moved cut into the ice and were frozen in. All efforts to move it seemed in vain. Several large motor trucks were hitched to it, but they were unable to pull it out. It will be impossible to raise the house, so it will be torn down. The owners estimate the loss at $2,500.

AUTO, MISSING FOR SIX MONTHS, FOUND

Car Stolen During Time of Janesville Fair Last Year Recovered in Iowa.

Stolen in Janesville six months ago, P. H. Quinn's five-passenger Ford car has finally been found and will be restored to its owner within a few days. Police at Mt. Ayres, Ia., right notified Mr. Quinn at his home, 310 South High street, that they had picked up the machine and were holding it. Identification was made by the engine number.

The car was stolen during the time of the Janesville fair last September. When a search of the city failed to reveal any trace of it, Chief Morrissey drew up cards bearing a description of the machine and mailed them to surrounding cities. Nothing further was heard of the car.

Butters Police Record.

Finding of the car boosts the average of the police department to high mark in the city. The car was recovered in 12. With the restoration of the Quinn machine after being missed a half year, the city will have a record of 12 cars recovered.

In connection with the auto stealing epidemic which seems to be opening up in the south, again, Chief Morrissey today issued a warning to car owners to use more care in guarding their machines against theft. Locking of them when they are not in use is urged.

Madison and Rockford Hit.

Developments in surrounding cities the past few days make it appear as if the spring rush of auto thieves has begun. Local police have been notified to be on the look-out for a Ford car stolen in Madison, and a machine taken in Rockford. Cars have been reported stolen here so far this year.

All expenses of this work, including the nurse's salary, will be paid from the money which has been raised by citizens during the various membership drives of the Red Cross. F. C. Grant, chairman of the nursing committee of the Red Cross, said today: "This is the first opportunity which the Red Cross has had to do extensive service in the home district."

An advisory committee which will assist Miss Glenn was appointed yesterday, made up of Dr. A. A. Cunningham, Dr. W. A. Munn, and Mrs. John Whiffen.

PRECAUTIONS TAKEN TO SAVE CORN CROP

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington.—The enormous value of corn, the premier crop of the nation, has made it necessary for the government to take all possible precautions to prevent further infestation from the European "corn borer," which is supposed to have entered the country in shipments of foreign corn and has obtained a vested foothold in the eastern part of the country.

Large sums are being spent in an effort to control it and a pulling soon is expected from the federal horticultural board as to whether a quarantine shall be imposed against all foreign countries to prevent further entrance of stalks and ears of Indian corn, broom corn or other plants that may bring the borer. It would not apply to shelled corn or to the thrashed seeds of the other plants.

Announcing our Informal Exhibition of New Fashions For Spring and Summer
Friday and Saturday

The knack of knowing how to dress lies in merely knowing where to buy.

We don't pretend to have a monopoly on all the good things in outer wear, but our specialization in correct and becoming fashions naturally offers those who seek distinction in dress, unusual opportunities to express their fastidious taste.

We are particularly proud of our showing for the coming Spring and Summer. We will be honored to have you call and see it regardless of whether you are a-buying or not.

FORWARD, JANESVILLE!

To make Janesville a better place in which to live and in which to do business, Janesville pledges itself to work for and support these things:

Housing survey to discourage exorbitant rentals; encouragement of building more houses; appraisal of property values so that rent profiteers may be made to pay the increased amount of taxes.

Open roads in the country 365 days of the year; better roads generally, and support of the building plans; better streets and more paved streets in the city.

A market pavilion in the city which may also be used for many other purposes by farmers and livestock producers.

A community building to be used for auditorium, sport events, meetings, rest rooms, and also as a fitting memorial for soldiers.

Open the churches seven days a week and stop economic waste in rooms and time. Make basements living places for the young, and provide gymnasium facilities.

Build a real home for the girls who come here to work.

Open the fair grounds this year as a recreation park with tennis courts and other play apparatus. Establish parks and playgrounds.

Better the street car service as population increases.

NOT A MATTER OF CHARITY.

We resent the statement that the soldier bonus is asked as a matter of mere money pay for the service men. The few dollars to be paid the men who made the world safe for democracy have little to do with the question. The big thing is whether the government thinks the men who wore the khaki are worth recognition now that the war is over, or shall they be forgotten? It makes no difference whether the bonus is cash, lands for them, or something equally as worth while.

Some of the bureaucratic chiefs seem to think the soldier is asking for charity. They are not; they are asking for justice. We want Mr. Baker and Mr. Wilson and the rest to make the bill of 1917 good by the show on the inside of the tent.

FARM BUREAU COMING HERE.

A few days ago the Gazette printed some remarks in these columns of the new farm bureau to be made up of genuine farmers and pledged to farm betterment, and not for the purpose of dabbling in politics.

Rock county is to have a branch of the great national movement and the farmers of the county are called to meet this week to organize. County Agent Glasco is explaining the reasons and the general plan for the movement. Here is something worth while. Farmers are confronting questions of the most vital importance to the whole world. They are not merely local questions, and have no boundaries of towns or counties—they are universal. Foremost of all is the question of farm production in 1920. If there is the same acreage as in 1919 how will the lands be tilled? Where is the farm help to come from? Machinery will in part only supply the deficiency. No farmer could pay the wages to skilled farm help that is given to men in the building trades, for instance.

And if the farmer does not work and the land is idle or in meadow or pasture, the non-productive consumer will meet disastrous conditions in the winter of 1921. That is one reason why the Gazette is calling attention to the need for every empty lot in the city to be tilled by the city resident this year. No one should be asleep now. This is the time to be wide awake.

THE BRUTALITY OF REVOLUTION.

Germany has lost none of her reputation for brutality in the present revolution. The German soldier is a soldier always—he was in Belgium and in North France. Ruthlessness is his. So we have a long list of tragedies already, of the shooting down of men and women in many cities. Out of the German situation has come little that gives a clear idea of what is either transpiring or the reasons behind the revolution. It would appear that the inception was by interests antagonistic to the republic, but not favorable to the return of the kaiser.

From what can be obtained in piecemeal out of Germany it would appear that the effort to overthrow Ebert has not succeeded. That part of the world which is still sane and stable, will be pleased at this fact. Germany, under Ebert, may not have been the ideal government, but it prevented the establishment of a reign of anarchy or bolshevism with all its horrors from Russia. What Germany will face now is not an abortive revolution backed by rich junkers, but an outbreak of the proletariat for the establishment of a soviet dictatorship. There can be nothing worse than this for any people, and for that reason we may well hope that the Ebert government is re-established.

ELIEN STUBBORN JURYMEN.

We have a case of the Vermont jurymen who reported to the judge that an agreement could be reached if it were not for the stubbornness of eleven men on the jury with him. They refused to agree with him. Mr. Wilson is the only one who agrees as to the verdict on the league of nations. The senate is against him. Democrats have broken away and others are ready if they can get from under the administration lash. Newspapers which are noted for genuflecting every time the name of Wilson is mentioned, bitterly criticize the senate. Men of the senate who have stood as a great protective bulwark against the effort to turn the nation bodily over to European selfishness and greed are equal in patriotism and the peer in statecraft to the president. They form a majority, yet the president says they are hanging the jury. We hope they continue to hang it.

PRESIDENTIAL SITUATION.

Interest is growing in the presidential campaign. The outstanding factor in the democratic ranks is the uncertainty surrounding the president. Many are of the opinion that he will be a candidate. If so, it will mean a new alignment of the democratic candidates and put both Mr. Palmer and Mr. McAdoo in embarrassing positions, one as a member of the cabinet, and the other a member of the president's family. Also it is extremely doubtful whether Mr. Hoover would want to be in any sense a candidate against the man whom he supports as earnestly as he does the president.

But it is not from the democratic situation that the large fruit of interest is being ripened. It is on the other party tree. Only a miracle can elect a democratic candidate with the record for extravagance, of gross mismanagement, in the shift position from pacifism to war, in the scandals of the air service and the

THE REAL GIVER.
The money gift is easy, there are hundreds here to pay. And settle back contented while the toilers work away. Men will dig into their pocket for the gold the cause may need. And then leave it for another to go out and do the deed. But in every worthy struggle that shall help the world to climb. The world is always seeking for the men who'll give their time.

The money gift is easy, but a better gift than pelf. Is to dedicate to service not your money, but your self. For though gold and silver often are the things a cause demands, No righteous dream can triumph without willing hearts and hands. And in every field of service that is known to mortal ken You can hear the leader calling, not for money, but for men.

The money gift is easy; many gladly pay the price. Who sit back in times of danger and refuse the sacrifice. There are men who give their money for a purpose that is fine Who never share the burdens or the bitter fighting line. But the man the world is seeking in the tasks it has Is the man who'll share the struggle and stay with it 'till it's through.

greater neglect of the navy, and a score of other examples of mis and non-feasances in office which the public has written down in its note book.

Therefore we are all intensely keen on what the republican convention will do at Chicago in June. Primaries are just beginning in some states. Gen. Wood has carried Minnesota. It is quite safe to say at this moment that Gen. Wood is in the lead. Governor Lowden of Illinois is probably a fair second. Hiram Johnson of California has a large following in the progressive element of the La Follette stripe and in the Non-Partisan league membership. Miles Poindexter, who was the first to break over traditions and declare frankly that he was a candidate, has a press bureau at work; that is about all. Senator Warren G. Harding, of Ohio, is having trouble with the politicians of his home state and his only hope seems to be in something turning up at the convention.

There has been no serious consideration of Hoover in the republican ranks. The first instigation of his candidacy came from the New York World, a notoriously partisan democratic and Wilson supporter, followed by a few others of the same manner of thinking. No one has heard of Governor Coolidge lately. In the dark horse paddock are Senator Lenroot and Senator Knox. From Nebraska every few days arrives a sheet of literature about Pershing for president. But there has been no loud and long cheering or wild public acclaim over the candidacy. Somehow the military hero business has departed from the land. Gen. Wood, fortunately, does not owe his strength to his having been, or is now an officer of the army. Other things have made him a foremost figure.

No man will go into the national convention with a majority of the delegates. That will make the undistinguished delegate the great factor in the final determination. Neither party has named a man to lead them and the situation is more like it was in 1884 and in 1896 than ever since. Wisconsin republicans have an opportunity to support a delegation pledged to the fortunes or bossism of no man, or clique.

The trouble about having plenty of booze in Cuba is that the man who wants it badly enough to go there to get it, never has enough money to get there, and by the time he has saved enough to go there, he has lost his appetite for liquor and does not want to go. Perfectly simple.

When last heard from Ebert and Von Kapp had called for a new pennant deck. Down the corridor could be heard the wooden shoes of Bill Hohenzollern clattering his way to bed, disgusted.

Add Horrors of a Dry Country: Janesville has more money in her banks than ever in her history.

Banks, and not saloons, are cashing checks nowadays. That is one of the evils of prohibition.

Hogs and Democracy

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN, Director

Janesville Daily Gazette Information Bureau, Washington, D. C.

Jacksonville, Fla., March 17.—During the last few years, hogs—no razor-backs, but high-bred, pork-making hogs—have increased in the state of Florida at a rate which is probably unprecedented in porcine history. At the same time, and as a direct result of this hog multiplication, there has been a corresponding increase in the number of that pillar of democracy, the man who works for himself, otherwise known as the independent operator.

For the facts concerning this great economic development, as well as the philosophical inferences which accompany them, credit is due to W. M. Traer, who is secretary of the Florida State Swine-Growers' association, and also of the Southern Swine-Growers' association. He is a leading propagandist of the state.

Razorback Is Old-Timer
The sensational facts about Florida hog culture are as follows: Five years ago there were practically no hogs in this state except for that chaotic mass of swine which were the southern scenery, the razorback. The razorback, of course, is an animal not to be despised. For a combination of ecological and economic reasons, qualities, unimpaired appetite, self-reliance and immunity to disease, it is hard if not impossible to beat. It produces little or no pork. He shuns fat like a movie star. He assays about 90 percent bristles, and has a few bristles, but no fat. He is a true democracy, but does not satisfy the appetite.

The Floridians decided that this old-time scenery was not to go. They organized and began to import blooded stock. The result is that there are now nearly two million head of hogs in the state, and the number is steadily growing. The state growers' association was organized two years ago, and it is the leading force in the hog raising association. Florida sow, with two generations of Florida hogs behind her, won the grand championship at the International Livestock exhibition in Chicago recently as much as $32,000 has been paid for a hog to be used for breeding purposes in Florida. A live hog, which is expected to attract $5,000,000 worth of exhibits. This is a big packing plant. At Jacksonville, Fla., there is a smaller one at Chipley and at Tampa. And all this has been accomplished in five years!

Hog Proves Mainstay
Mr. Traer firmly believes that the hog is the mainstay of Florida's future prosperity. As a quick producer of wealth, he believes that the hog has no equal. Pork production, he says, is the poorest of all business, and one which he too often overlooks. More and more these days it takes capital to get started in the hog raising business. You can't start on a shoestring any more. The result is that a lot of us are holding jobs who would like to be in business for ourselves.

At this point we must rise from the solid ground of fact and take a hazardous little flight into the realm of theory. Fifty years ago when any man could get 160 acres of good land by going west and building a shack on it, we had little trouble in getting rich. Now, the other nations admitted that we had a lot of democracy. Now that most of us have to hunt jobs in cities, and the people across the water regard us as the most reactionary of nations. In a word, we venture the mild suggestion that the theory of a bottomless matter of economics, rather than of politics, and so is untest. If you are working for yourself, you are not in the line of the man who is satisfied with things because there is nobody to blame except yourself.

But if you are working for some other fellow you are sure to blame him, with more or less reason. The labor problem is simply this far from being a large scale. In other words, as other authorities have limited before, the idea seems to be to get back to a system where each man gives every man control over his means of livelihood, thereby encouraging him to fight with himself instead of with the rest of the world.

Hog Good Investment
We do not wish to hang any responsibility for the above wind-blown argument on Mr. Traer, but he makes an excellent argument that the hog is one of the leading methods of achieving that needed economic independence. Mr. Traer says to take Florida for instance. Here it is possible to raise two or three crops of hogs each year. It is also possible to raise two litters of pigs in a year without the use of artificial heat. A man can buy excellent land for $50 an acre, and he can sell it for $100 an acre. With 10 acres of land and one brood sow, a man can make a living. With 100 acres of land and a half dozen brood sows provided he has executive ability and industry, he can found a fortune.

Climate-Hog Cooperative
The Florida climate and the incredibly prolific hog magnificently cooperate in this glorious achievement. But main credit is due to the hog. Hogs breed at the age of 10 months, have two litters a year, and 10 or 12 pigs at a litter. Mr. Traer figures out on 4 pieces of paper with a pencil that the thirty-year-old owner of this one old sow and 10 acres of land, having purchased the services of a high-grade boar, may with a good profit be able to sell 100 hogs in 12 months, and may have sold in the meantime 72 hogs. This seems incredible, but Mr. Traer is an authority and he did the arithmetic. The deserving settler will meantime be tilling on his 10 acres, producing enough turnips, peanuts, oats, and other crops to feed his growing porcine family alive. Now and then he will pause to shoot a dose of hog cholera serum into each one of them. He will not get the cholera, but the limits of his ultimate wealth are measured only by his energy and generalship.

Hogs Bring Prosperity
Mr. Traer believes that a survey of the United States will show that rural prosperity is directly in proportion to the number of hogs found in each section. He points out that Iowa, which is the richest state per capita in the United States, is also a great hog-producing state, and he points out that the wealth is well distributed. It is said to be the one state in the union where there are enough motor cars that everyone can get his foot off the ground at the same time. It is the direct antithesis of the great eastern manufacturing communities where the per capita wealth is nearly as great, but a few persons have got the most of it.

Little Fellow Has Hogs
And in Iowa there are 500,000 hogs, and nearly everybody has got a few of these prolific producers, and therefore nearly everybody has got at least a little money. The little fellow has a little money, but no one has succeeded in monopolizing the business of raising hogs, over enormous areas, and in consequence the little fellow has a chance. It is easy to start hog farming. It is above all a business where it is easy for the little fellow to squeeze in.

ON THE SPUR of the MOMENT

ROY E. MOULTON

The magazine article entitled "Women as Mothers" seems to have aroused considerable interest among the readers of the Gazette, and the readers of this column. It has inspired a sharp discussion as to whether women make the best mothers. Personally, I have never stated before, we believe they do. We find that this opinion is shared by a great many readers. We have never been a mother, but after years of observation we believe that motherhood belongs primarily to the feminine sex, just as men make the best fathers. The argument sounds logical, but of course it is just a bit old-fashioned, and no one knows what may be proclaimed by the scientists or the new cults any day. It may be that they have changed the thing all around without our knowledge. These are wonderful days. We are accomplishing things we have never accomplished before. We are talking with the heavenly state, we are sending rockets to the moon, we are raising hives with all the old-time conventions and institutions. It is an amazing psychological, mystic, scientific, verse libre, revolutionary age, and it seems as though anything is possible. Just the other day a genius turned his Ford car into a mail and a mother, we must cling to our old idea that women are more proficient and numerous in that capacity.

Maggie belongs to the chorus. Every charm is hers. She's pretty and meek. But at thirty-a-week she's a mother. How does she get those furs? A friend informs us that he, being in military training, so many of our men are stoop shouldered. They get that way by going in and out of cellars so much. Noah certainly started a lot of trouble when he allowed those two boards to get aboard the ark with the other animals. There was once a man who never lied to his wife. He died a bachelor. I don't see how any woman can hope to run for president with skirts as light as they are now.

ASK US

The Gazette maintains an information bureau at Washington, D. C., under the direction of Frederic J. Haskin. Questions will be answered on any subject. Those desiring information may write a letter to the Janesville Daily Gazette, Information Bureau, Washington, D. C., and enclose a stamp. The letter will be answered by the bureau.

Q Why was William E. Johnson, the prohibitionist, nicknamed "pushy" or "E. L. D."?
A Johnson, who is insistently in favor of prohibition, earned the appellation "pushy" because of his relentless but quiet way of enforcing his ideas on the public. He is at the present time in England, where he recently lost a leg as the result of having been roughly used by some Britishers who opposed his efforts to make England dry. The prohibitionists of England have celebrated Johnson's ill-treatment by adopting the slogan "Johnson's eye will make England dry."

Q What is the predominating religion of Egyptians?
A Ninety-two percent of the 9,000,000 people who live in Egypt are of the Mohammedan faith. The remaining 8 percent are mostly Christians and Jews.

Q Has the word "Dago" always been applied to Italians?
A Originally, this term was applied to the people of Spanish parentage born in Louisiana, but it is now generally used to designate Italians, Spaniards, and Portuguese. It is believed to be a corruption of the Spanish name "Diego," which in English is Jack.

Q What is a writ of Habeas Corpus?
A It is a writ issued by the judge of a court, requiring the release of a confinement to be brought into court so that just inquiry may be made into his case. Its object is to prevent arbitrary and oppressive imprisonment. Habeas Corpus literally means "Thou hast the body."

Q What is the quotation "the Colonel's lady under the skin" from?
A It is from the poem "The Ladies" by Rudyard Kipling. It means that although one may be an aristocrat and the other of plebeian origin their natures as women are closely akin.

Q Was the percentage of rejection for the draft greater among city or country boys?
A Analysis of the records show that 100,000 country boys would furnish for the military service 4,700 more soldiers than would an equal number of city boys; 100,000 city boys would furnish 2,240 more than the same number of colored draftees; 100,000 native-born citizens would furnish 3,500 more than an equal number of foreign-born citizens.

Q Could a merchant be compelled to accept postage stamps in payment for merchandise?
A Stamps are not legal tender, and therefore a merchant is not obliged to accept them in place of currency.

Q What is the proper way to introduce a man and a woman?
A A man should always be presented to a woman as "Mrs. Jones." It would be like to present Mr. Smith. Young women should always be introduced to older women.

Q What steps should be taken by a person desiring to have his mail forwarded to a temporary address?
A The postoffice department says that a person desiring to have his mail forwarded to a temporary address should file, with the postmaster at the office of his permanent residence, a request, signed in writing, giving his permanent address, the temporary address to which the mail is to be forwarded, and specific instructions.

You Get What You Give

WHEN a business fails the financial statement reflects the conditions at that time, but the real reason for failure is seldom shown. In many cases the true reason is that the business performed no service which was necessary or useful to society generally.

Every individual must give a useful service if he is to prosper, for society will refuse to maintain him if he fails to be useful to society.

When we find a business which has been notably prosperous over a long period of years, we may be sure that it has won its position by performing a service useful and necessary.

That, in a word, explains the continued, ever-increasing success of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana.)

This Company is included in the list of big business because the ideals of service which it holds and maintains are big.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is big because it recognizes the necessity of developing its sphere of usefulness to the highest degree and of maintaining this high standard in spite of every obstacle.

The success of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) proves that it is performing a useful service and that every link in its chain of achievements is delivering an added benefit to civilization and to you.

Service is the first consideration of this organization, for it knows that by increasing its service to the public its earnings will automatically grow, and all will profit by its activities.

MYSTERY SURROUNDS PARENTAGE OF BABY

Mystery still surrounds the parentage of the dead baby found last week in a sand pit in Beloit. No clues were advanced at the inquest held there this morning. Coroner Lynn Whaley, who conducted the inquest, said every possible means had been taken to learn something of the child's parents. He said he believes the baby might have been brought to Beloit from some other city, as the name of Mrs. P. H. Hall was written upon the outside of the shoe box in which the body was found. No woman by that name lives in Beloit, it was learned.

A committee composed of William Sullivan, Ben Kullow and James Crook, was appointed to arrange for the affair.

OBITUARY

John McCulloch.
Word has been received by Emma M. Mills, 425 Milwaukee street, of the death of John McCulloch, Los Angeles, Calif., which occurred Saturday, Feb. 28. Mr. McCulloch was an employee of the Gazette Printing company for 19 years before going to California, about 50 years ago, where he continued to work at job printing until failing health caused him to retire about two years ago. He was about 80 years of age at the time of his death.

MRS. CARRIE JACOBS BOND

BY HARRIETTE WHEATON.
Back home—back to the home of her childhood—comes Mrs. Carrie Jacobs Bond—poet, composer, publisher, writer, and singer of her own songs, who has been popularized here in a compilation of opinions of business men in a Des Moines, Iowa, paper recently.

All claim her as friend. Mrs. Bond, world noted song writer, is to her friends here: the same Carrie Jacobs as of yore; then the prodigious child pinning hopes on the future; the ambitious composer nailing hopes on a solid foundation of accomplishments.

The old-timers are reminiscent. Many of them knew her as a child, some played with her, some went to school with her, others only knew her by hearsay.

CITY ELECTIONS WILL BE WARM

Aldermanic Contests Assured in Both First and Fourth Wards—Battle on for City Treasurer's Office.

With at least two aldermanic contests and a fight for the city treasurer's office assured, and hot races predicted in two other wards, the election now points to a merry election in Janesville, April 2. Where two weeks ago predictions of a rather dull election were being made, the last few days have materially changed the situation. More surprises are anticipated.

Contests which now appear certain are stated for the First and Fourth wards where two candidates for alderman have arisen in each contest. Similar with city politics see contests in the Third and Fifth wards although some doubt is expressed as to the Second.

Garbutt to Run.
Up in the First ward where Alderman Le Roy D. Horn is going to run a successful himself, it is found that Harry Garbutt, wholesale lumberman, has entered the race. It is understood nomination papers circulated for both now have sufficient number of signers.

George L. Traver, 412 Cherry street, a carpenter announced that he is a candidate for Alderman. Traver's name is in the municipal sanction from the Fourth ward. Nomination papers are being circulated for both. It is learned. It is also understood friends of Sam Grundy, tobacco buyer, are urging him to enter the race.

Lennartz vs. Muenchow.
The third contest definitely assured is a city-at-large affair. City Treasurer George Muenchow who is running to succeed himself, is opposed by William J. Lennartz, 320 South Franklin street, a mail carrier, who has announced himself for that office. Papers circulated for both have the required number of signers, is learned.

No opposition has developed in the second ward where William W. J. Dullin's name is going to make the run, nor in the Fifth where J. J. Dullin's name will again be on the ballot although it is understood efforts are being made to get J. J. Dullin and W. J. Murray to run in the latter precinct. Neither has as yet decided to enter the race, it is said.

Fastlow Won't Run.
A rumor that Charles A. Fastlow was going to run against Roger C. Cunningham for re-election as city attorney was raised today by Mr. Fastlow who emphatically declared he will not be a candidate for any office.

No one has as yet announced himself as candidate for school commissioner from the Fourth. William Jennings present incumbent, is understood to have decided not to run again. E. C. Grant has had papers circulated for school office from his second ward while Supt. J. T. Cooper will again run for school commissioner-at-large.

In the Towns.
Probably the same set of town officers will be selected at the caucus of the voters of the town of Janesville to be held Friday afternoon in Janesville, as are in now. One side supervisor is to be named to succeed Frank Korn who has held the office for a number of years. Other town officers whose terms expire are town clerk, assessor, H. C. Jennings, town treasurer and A. M. Church, town clerk.

Caucuses will be held throughout the county this week or early next to name candidates for town and village offices. There does not appear to be much of general interest anywhere and while there are two matters up for referendum, the general belief is that the vote will be light. The only issue which may get out the vote at all is the selection of delegates for the national conventions. No one hears much about it. People only talk of it incidentally.

The Daily Novelette ALWAYS ON THE JOB

Pa Askitz breathed a sigh of relief as Tommy, the rapid-fire questioner, left the room. Seven questions had already been propounded and answered somewhat, until in steady desperation Pa had told Tommy to go upstairs and get a quarter from his trousers' pocket and get to the movies with it. Tommy went.

And just as Pa had settled back with his evening edition of the Morning Star, with his mind on the doings of Daring Dick, the Diamond Dipper, Mrs. Askitz had intruded and called Tommy who was leaving the house.

"Are your lessons finished for tomorrow, Thomas?" she asked.
"Y-yes; I mean, no," answered Tommy, rather lowly.
"Then get to work and do them. Then you may go out, and not before," was Mrs. Askitz's ultimatum.

If looks could have killed, Tommy would have died a horrible death at Pa's instigation, but the next five minutes showed that he was very much alive.
"Say, Pa,"
"Light!" groaned Pa. Then he sat up and began to ask some questions on his own account. On the offensive, so to speak.

"Say, Thomas, how are getting along with your French?"
"I know how to say 'Thank you' and 'I beg your pardon' in French, now."
"Huh!" grunted Pa. "Your French teacher must be a good one, for that's more than you ever learned to say in English."

Tommy snickered. "Pa, what is the great American dream?" he asked several minutes later.
"Prunes!" roared Pa. "Now, button your lip and get outa here!"
A small boy's idea of liberty is to eat the cake and then ask his mother if he may have it.

The wise man never boasts because he has never been in jail—yet.

DRAMATICS CLUB IS POPULAR WITH PUPILS

The Most Interesting Human Being in the World

HER name is Lily Becker—an American girl—and you can read the story of her career in "Star Dust"—Fannie Hurst's first novel. Her fight against an all too apparent destiny—the forces which moulded her character—the desires which fought those forces—all form the background against which Miss Hurst has written a really great, a really important novel.

In Lily Becker you will find a sincere interpretation of the instinct for self-expression in woman asserting itself through the repressions exacted by too indulgent, but too little understanding parents. Lily Becker's fight is the fight of every modern young woman who must face the world. Miss Hurst has drawn a remarkable literary portrait of the girl of today.

"You Can't Please Everyone"
THIS is an amusing story by Frank R. Adams of the "today" that you worried about yesterday and that never happened. Conover Collier was going through life chained to the fear that he might lose his job or his sweetheart or his savings account. Then, when it looked like he had lost all three, he was surprised to discover that "it might have been worse" as inveterate optimists are in the habit of saying.

What Would You Do with a Million?
Do you think you would act as the poor folks in Texas acted when riches fairly rained down upon them? In the new Cosmopolitan Frazier Hust continues his story of the oil-magic millions that have transformed a wilderness into a metropolis. He tells about Uncle Wash who was going to the government and make all "them drillers stop ruinin' all that wheat." But wheat was forgotten—and now—but read the story. It's all true and amazing!

Weather Man to Warn Of Path of Flu Bugs

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Budapest, March 17.—Meteorologists are called upon to fight influenza in an appeal issued through the American Red Cross by Prof. Petrus, head of the medical faculty of Budapest university. He asserts the influenza germ is the smallest encountered by scientists and because of its light weight it is swept up by air currents and carried hundreds of miles to other districts. He appeals particularly to meteorologists to organize a system of notifying the world during influenza epidemics of the direction of air currents so that endangered districts in the supposed path of the microbe may take adequate precautions to prevent infections.

DIAMOND CUT DIAMOND

By JANE HUNGER

Copyright by the Robby-Merrill Co.

And in the midst of the disorder which alone had apparently not been touched—the bunch of hyacinths! I saw it the moment I got the dining-room light turned on. It stood on the table, just as I had left it when I had crowded the diamonds down among the stems. But were the diamonds there in the act of making a dash to and out, when I remembered Billy—Billy must know.

He had ejaculated, "Love and potatoes! You did have a hunch!" I pulled off my gloves—I must see if the diamonds were safe—just a touch with the end of my fingers and "a knock."

"I didn't do it with a hunch, Billy," said I, and I scooped to pick up a table drawer and slide it into place, for there was a considerable barricade between me and the hyacinths that were now out of my reach.

"I didn't suppose you did," Billy was generous enough to admit.

"I did it with a piece of tammy," said I.

"Say—where did you leave the cash?" he questioned quickly, and I remembered the five hundred dollars that I had forgotten for the moment.

I forgot the diamonds and sank into the nearest chair, I stammered, "Billy, I must know the worst, and I'm afraid to go to my bedroom and see if it's gone. It was in the bathroom drawer."

Billy struck a match and went

Combing Won't Rid Hair Of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be healthy, lustrous, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the trick.

Why That Lame Back?

That morning lameness—or those sharp pains when bending or lifting, make work a burden and are impossible. Don't be handicapped by a bad back—look to your kidneys. You will make no mistake by following this Janesville resident's example.

Mrs. G. W. Day, 335 Western Ave., says: "I have had a lame back for years. I used a box of Doan's Kidney Pills. They rid me of an attack of kidney trouble that had been annoying me for a year and a half. During that time I had severe spells of lame back and an irregularity of the kidneys. I knew something would have to be done to relieve this disorder and I was led to Doan's Kidney Pills. I sent to Sherer's Drug Store and got a box. I soon got relief and I could see a difference in my condition. One box cured me entirely and I have never had it return. I can truly and willingly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills."

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Day had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

down the hall. Then I saw the electric light illuminate the doorway and heard Billy.

"Love and pumpkins! Come here—quick!"

I rushed after him, without waiting to see if the diamonds were safe. He pointed to the bed: "Will you look at that!"

All the bed covers had been thrown off and on the mattress lay the five hundred dollars, spread out in rows of tens and fives!

The sight fairly crazed me in. It was a great deal worse than if the money had been stolen. The thought that instantly struck me, and Billy too, for Billy said it was "that fellow certainly had plenty of time, and what's more, I bet he was waiting for you."

"He was," said I with conviction, calculating at the foot of the bed for support.

Billy gathered up and counted the money. It was all there, five hundred dollars.

"Now what—do you make—of that?" he meditated.

I knew what I made of it, but for Mrs. Deane's sake I told him not to tell Billy. He handed the bills to me.

"There's more to this," he observed. "Some mystery. I must search the other rooms."

"Listen!" I said.

We listened but heard nothing. Then he opened the bathroom door and looked in. And with that he marched straight to the kitchen door and back to me in a flash.

"You open the front door and get ready to go, and I'll be with you in five minutes," he commanded.

"No, Billy," I returned, coming to my senses and pulling out my hat-pin, that had already once done duty as a hairpin. "I got ready to do bloody murder."

He flung open the kitchen door and we went in together.

One mysterious burglar had vanished.

"Flew the coop," said Billy sadly. "And I might have caught him if I'd had a little more time. Just a minute he pointed to the open window as he spoke."

To me that open window meant I had missed death because of Billy. He grabbed my arm and I saw him stored me to the dining room and berthed me in the chair I'd just left.

"Get me a glass of water, Billy."

"Say, this NEWS!" he chuckled, while I drank. "Mysterious robbery of well-known authoress—oh, I say, this is NEWS!"

He took the glass to the kitchen and came back with a notebook in his hand. I stumbled to my feet and got him by the shoulders.

"Billy Rivers, this is not news! It's life and death to me! A living soul must know of this till I tell it. Do you understand?"

"Well, but," he began, "a robbery like this is a robbery. It's not a robbery. It wasn't a robbery." He cast a glance over the wreckage strewn all over. "What was it, then?"

"A search."

"See what I believe you're right," he cried, looking again, with a new light in his eyes.

"I say—the plot thickens. This is a real mystery!"

"Don't you see why it mustn't be known?"

"And do you know who searched and what he searched for?"

"I think so."

Billy stared at me for some seconds before he spoke.

"I believe you know more about this than you're telling me. You're concealing something. Well—tell me this—did he get it or not?"

"I don't know."

Billy whistled and stared. "Say—this begins to be romantic."

"Romantic?" I asked.

"You don't know what romantic is?"

I managed to stop there. However much I respected Billy in general, I hadn't much confidence in his discretion.

"Billy, do you remember the time your mother put on your brand-new faultless suit and told you not to go to the swimming hole and your mother asked desperately, trying to get at him somehow and bind him to a promise to keep this to himself. And you went and the boys there you in, said and did and all? And I found you and took you home and ironed you and curled you up fresh and saved you from—"

"A licking—and a good one," he finished for me. "Those were the master's lickin' days—before she lost the girls. And it wasn't the only lickin' you saved me from," he added, in a respectful way. "I'd advise him to for, even when I just couldn't love him, he was so bad."

"Billy, dear," I said, pressing my hands on his shoulders. "It's your turn now. Do you understand?—and you've got to forget that you're a reporter and remember only that you're my friend and that I need you for my trouble and I simply can't explain."

"Don't say any more," said Billy with a fine air, taking up his hat. "I remembered then that he had come for papers—George would be looking for some evidence of my truthfulness—and I snatched up the first sizable book I saw—my German dictionary, though I didn't know what it was—and a bunch of odd papers and thrust them into Billy's hand and got him out and George up in spite of protest that I ought not to stay alone after that."

I closed the door and put up the chain-bolt and seeing my clothes all in a heap, went in and hung them up and threw the blankets off the bed. I turned out all the lights but one. And throughout all these operations I kept asking myself, "Did he get the diamonds?"

SORGHUM MAKERS ELECT OFFICERS OF NEW ORDER

Sorghum makers in this state have begun a systematic campaign for bettering the organization of the Wisconsin Sorghum Order. The new organization is one of the divisions of the state experimental association, similar to the Alfalfa and the Hemp Order.

Representatives from eight counties met at the organization meeting in Madison, March 10.

Those elected were: S. O. Rabb, Mazomanie, president; G. R. Featherston, Milton, vice-president; A. H. Wright, Madison, secretary; A. C. Mielke, Portage, treasurer.

One in the state who is interested in the sorghum business is invited to become a member of the new organization.

The special aim of the Sorghum Order, it was declared at the meeting, is to develop a standard grade of sorghum, to improve methods of growing, handling, manufacturing, and marketing the crop. The annual fee of $1 a member was voted to cover the cost of investigations and spreading the information in the state.

She Married an Average Man

By ZOE BECKLEY.

I have had one of the most wonderful experiences in my life. True to her word, Athena drove Jim and me in her car to New York for what she calls "a demonstration in twilight sleep." We left Hammond's Corners in the night and the roads were perfect. Diamond drops were on every grass blade and little fresh leaf. The highways were almost dark. We covered nearly half the distance in the smoothest, loveliest drive I ever took. As we neared the city and Athens picked her way through the traffic of noonday I closed my eyes and allowed the hum and clatter of the great city to surge over me like warm, stimulating waves. With Jim beside me and Athena at the wheel, I had a fanciful dream as if I were somehow going safely and happily forward into success and happiness.

We drew up before a handsome house on Riverside drive. A snow-white limousine, with the driver and showed us smilingly into a cheerfully furnished reception room overlooking the sunny Hudson river. Athena, who had been waiting in a half home, half private sanitarium, said Athena, with the air of being perfectly familiar with the surroundings.

Almost as she spoke the doctor came in, holding out both hands in welcome. I watched Jim carefully hoping he was going to approve and be overpowered. I myself felt happier than I had for months. Safety and comfort seemed to be in the air.

"Step into the elevator," said the doctor. "We'll go to the top floor first and work down. Then you can ask me all the questions you like, and I'll answer them."

I wanted to ask a million right then and there, but held my eager tongue. We checked out of the hard-wood floor and entered the whitest and most immaculate operating room I ever saw. It was pos-tively beautiful. I don't care if it is absurd and too much to apply to such a room. "And this is the babies' own," said the doctor, leading us into a big, darkened chamber, bare save for several little cribs and some low chairs and tables.

"The mothers sleep quietly for several hours before the babies have been born," he explained. "We keep the kiddies in here for their own nap and so they won't disturb anybody."

The doctor knocked gently at a door which was promptly opened by a smiling nurse.

"Will Mrs. Blank let us come in a few minutes?" he asked. "I want Mrs. Salsbery to meet her." In a moment Athena and I were talking to a pretty little woman propped up in bed eating breakfast, a poached egg, some fruit, toast and milk. Near by was a small bundle of pink blanket.

"My daughter is asleep," said Mrs. Blank. "I don't want to wake her." "Take a peek and see if you like her. Good-looking girl for 10 hours old, don't you think?"

I gaped, thinking I could not have heard aright. A mother of 10 hours, pink cheeks and smiling, in kimono and boudoir cap, sitting up in bed eating real food, impossible. I had never seen a mother of 10 hours, something. But Athena was looking at the infant and taking everything for granted.

"You don't mean this baby was born 10 hours ago?" I managed to ask.

"She certainly was," smiled the mother. "But don't ask me too many questions. I don't remember a single thing from early last night until I held little Jane in my arms a few hours ago. In two days I shall be having my meals downstairs. In a week I shall be out there in the sunlight taking a drive."

I could find no words. (To be continued.)

THE HIGH COST OF SICKNESS—II

Something on the chest as an external application. Use camphorated oil. Prepare this yourself. Dissolve all the coarsely crumbled gum camphor in the warm oil. Rub the chest with this mixture. The camphor will keep the chest tightly closed when not using it, lest the camphor volatilize away. Either sweet oil (sweat) or olive oil may be used. Rub this gently on the chest, throat, bridge of nose, night and morning, for any illness that produces cough. I can assure mothers that it will accomplish all that any so-called cough or cold remedy can accomplish as an external application.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Some people assert that if you will mix in a little white of egg or talc, camphor or what you like, but mustard paste the paste won't blister. Stuff and nonsense. If a mustard paste is worth a tinkered mustard, it should be used. It left on the skin long enough. But there is no advantage in blistering with mustard. The paste should be used for a few minutes, and as soon as the skin is well reddened the mustard should be removed. It has done all the good it is going to do.

To make a mustard paste mix a tablespoonful of mustard with four or five drops of vinegar and mix with enough tepid water to make a sticky paste. Spread this evenly upon a piece of waxed or oiled paper. Let it dry eight inches square. Over it lay a piece of muslin or cheesecloth, rolling the edges of the cloth under the paper and stitching in a place. Then apply the mustard to the skin, and apply it with the cloth next the skin.

BOY MAKES $900 PROFIT IN 175 DAYS ON CALF

Shobogan, Wis.—David Joslin, 16 Plymouth, member of the 130's and Girls' club, figures that he has made a profit of $900 in 175 days on his bull calf. The calf, a purebred Holstein, weighed 235 pounds when he bought it for $125. At the end of 175 days the calf weighed 900 pounds and David refused to sell at $1,000. During this time he had won $83 in prizes. The cost of feed and labor was $55.69, which with the initial cost, made David's expenses $180.69, giving him a net profit of $903.41.

This is far above the average. There are many equally bright boys and girls in this club who are not so fortunate as to own such a good calf. The records of some of the other club members are: Oscar Berkebeck, Glenwood, made $261 from an acre of Wisconsin No. 8 corn; Kenneth Stevenson, Dane, who is but 12, made in one year $467 from his sheep. Theresa, Wellston, made a profit of $144.68 from her canning, and Raymond Muskavich, Shawano, raised a $450 potato crop on one acre, his potatoes netting him $393.90.

Orange Cocktail.—Ream out the juice of four oranges and then strain and add one-half cup of cold water, one-half cup of finely chopped ice. Serve in glasses.

Potato Pancakes.—Wash and then pare and grate eight medium-sized potatoes. Place in a mixing bowl and then add two onions, grated, one teaspoon of vinegar, one cup of salt, two cups of flour, one level tablespoon of baking powder, two well-beaten eggs, three-quarters cup of milk. Beat to mix and then drop by the spoonful in a frying pan containing smoking hot fat. Turn, cooking them like fritters.

Cherry Sponge.—Prepare a package of cherry gelatin and when cold and beginning to set, whip, using a Dover egg-beater. Beat until the mixture is white and thick and then rinse a mold with cold water and pour in the sponge. Set on ice to chill for three hours. Serve with Calumet cream, which is made from white of one egg, one-half glass of jelly.

Gingerbread.—Place in a mixing bowl white of one egg, three-quarters cup of New Orleans molasses, seven tablespoons of shortening, two cups of flour, two level tablespoons of baking powder, one cup of milk or water, one teaspoon of ginger, one teaspoon of cinnamon, one-half teaspoon of allspice.

Beat to mix and then bake in well-greased and floured oblong pan in a moderate oven for 35 minutes.

DISCOVERIES

To Wash Windows.—Use diamond skin just as you would in washing windows.

To Clean Stove.—Rub off all grease from stove first with newspaper. Put a teaspoon of vinegar and two of water into the polish. Rub on with a cloth and let it become a little dry, then rub with dry cloth and your stove will shine like new.

For Chapped Face and Hands.—Try using plain sweet cream. There is nothing better. When hands and arms get chapped, rub on a little sweet cream. The burning stops almost immediately. In a short while they are as smooth as the finest of hands.

This is harmless and mothers will find this a great help for babies' delicate faces.

To Reach Ivory.—Rub on a small quantity of unsalted lard, bran and water. Wipe off after being sufficiently bleached, then rub surface with saw dust or magnesia, which gives it a brilliant polish.

Buy Cheaper Meat

U. S. Officials Urge

"Save Money on Meat" week will be observed in Wisconsin beginning next Monday, according to the department of justice, which has instituted the week in an effort to teach people to check or cuts of meat are equally as nutritious as choice cuts. If consumers take advantage of the cheaper cuts the meat department believes the slackened demand for the cuts now popular will result in lower prices.

Other states which will also celebrate "Save Money on Meat" week with Wisconsin are: Illinois, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Iowa, Indiana, Michigan, New Jersey, and New York. All the states of the union have been grouped together to observe the week at some time during this month and April.

NECK RUFF AGAIN ENTERS FASHION FIELD

By ELOISE.

The spring fashion shows are just in progress and they are featuring frocks with long necks, short sleeves and short skirts. It is a bit hard to adjust our ideas which have so long sponsored the long sleeves and the modest neck line, but when we see nothing else save the new short sleeves and very low necks in the show windows and in the style books we finally put our stamp of approval on the new modes and settle back to either enjoy them or shun them.

That is, we usually do that but now comes the very disagreeable word that Paris, after sending her new ideas as to sleeves, skirts and the Heart and Home Problems

Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been going with a girl since before Christmas. A little before Christmas she had a birthday party. Of course I gave her a pretty good present, which I am sure was better than some of the rest.

She named her partners herself and took me for hers. When the party got fairly started she and another boy sneaked out and I suppose acted foolish. This made me think that Paris, after sending her new ideas as to sleeves, skirts and the

I have heard some remarks about her which I can't believe. We have been walking constantly, but now she doesn't answer my letters as she used to. Another thing, she doesn't speak to me on the streets when we meet except in a cold, civil way.

Do you think she is sliding away from me? She has told me several times that she cares for me. I think quite a lot of her, but if she doesn't act differently I don't know what I will do. Shall I keep on going with her or leave her and go PUZZLED.

It is impossible to explain the way the girl acts. It seems evident, however, that she regards you as a friend, only if she loves you she would not be so indifferent.

Go with other girls, too. You will be happier in this way and may make the girl like you better when she sees she is not the only object of your affections.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl 17 years of age and am engaged to a young man four years my senior. I like him very much and my folks are very fond of him. Would you advise me to marry him if I wait another year? A LEADER.

Would certainly advise you to wait a year. At the end of that time you can be sure or doubtful of your affections, and act accordingly.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Can you tell me what will darken streaked hair?

DISHEARTENED FRIEND.
To give the hair daily attention will help to keep it one shade. Every night and morning brush the hair thoroughly with about one hundred strokes of the brush. If your hair is thin buy a hair tonic and massage it into the scalp every other night. Healthy hair is rarely streaked.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 20 years of age and engaged to a man who is of a sarcastic nature. What would you advise me to do when he displays sarcasm? MUGGS.

Unless your fiancé can control his tongue, you will be happier not to marry him. Sarcasm is cruel and cuts so deeply that there is not always a comeback. Silently leave the room when he has said something unkind.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young man and had been going with a girl about a year ago. I did something at that time which I regret now and I want to see her, but I can't find her. A friend of mine who just came back from a visit told me that he had seen the girl in the town where he came from, but would not give me the name of the town.

Write the girl a letter and ask your friend to mail it to her. She may feel that she is willing to see you again when she learns your present attitude.

WITH THE WOMEN OF TODAY

When Helen Varick Boswell, well-known leader among republican women, stated recently that the "western women have shown no tendency to make use of the vote other than voting for men and measures," and that the "lure of the job for the women has been reserved for the eastern part of the country," she perhaps did not think of the many instances of western women holding men's jobs. There is more than one woman county treasurer in the west, many commissioners, school superintendents, deputies, legislators and councilmen, to say nothing of the hosts of other public offices which they hold.

Another western woman has recently joined the ranks of those who hold public offices. If it were merely the fact that she was a woman pointed to a public office it would not be unusual enough to mention considering the great number of western women who already have made history along that line. Mrs. Estelle V. Collier, however, is the first woman in the history of the United States to be named to the position of director of customs. She regards her appointment as a deserved recognition of her sex.

Mrs. Collier is a native of Utah. She is the mother of four children, the youngest being 14 years old. Her husband is R. E. L. Collier, a well-known mining engineer and county vada. One of her sons saw service in France as a member of the Fourteenth engineers.

For many years Mrs. Collier has been active and prominent in club and public activities. She is chairman of the Democratic women's state committee and during the war she was a member of the state council of defense. Customs district No. 48, over which she will have charge, includes the position pays $2,500 annually. She was named to the post by President Wilson over a field of male politicians.

CHATS WITH SPIRITS
I hear a lot of folks talking about spirits. They seem to be all excited. They think they have discovered something new.

Not at all. I have talked with spirits. In fact, I talk with them nearly every day.

Arriving at the ripe old age of thirty I took back on a life nearly every day of which has seen a little chat with some timely spirit.

Spirits have guided me, encouraged me, watched over me. Spirits have saved me from many a pitfall. Spirits have helped me to recognize many a good opportunity.

Just last evening I had a remarkable seance with a spirit. I had spent the evening reading the newspapers and a number of articles that stated how terribly things were going in this country.

I felt very much depressed. I could hardly stand the thought of our great nation being torn asunder. It seemed too horrible for the human mind to consider.

But as I was telling my mind sink deeper and deeper into the gloom, I had a call from a most interesting spirit. It was the spirit of old Aaron Burr.

"Why, Mr. Burr, I am glad to see you," I exclaimed.

"Well, it is unusual that I should call. But I see you are needing me, so I came."

"I noticed that he was smiling as he spoke. 'I saw that you were worried about the future of this great nation. You are afraid that it will be torn asunder. You fear for its future. Well, let me tell you something. This nation is very safe.'

"These foolish persons who are causing trouble can never overthrow the government. Don't let that worry you. And then he turned to go. But he noticed an expression of doubt on my face.

"Well, I'm telling you is so. I know, because I tried to overthrow the government myself. It can't be done."

With that he was gone. David W. Moore, in Leslie's.

EIGHT COUNTRY SCHOOLS PUBLISH WEEKLY PAPERS

A rural school in this county, the Rock school near Brodhead, was the pioneer in the state in publishing a paper, according to an announcement made by W. E. Larson, rural school inspector from the state department of education at Madison. Mr. Larson wrote commending pupils on their paper, Miss Cora Thorson was the teacher who was instrumental in its publication last year.

Since that time eight other schools in the county have begun publishing weekly editions, to say nothing of the number of rural schools in the state which have followed Mr. Larson's suggestion some sort of publication which would be the work of the pupils.

Three cash prizes will be awarded in a rural school contest at the Janesville fair this summer for the best newspapers presented. Supt. O. D. Antisdel said today that the purpose is to encourage more and better school newspapers.

Papers which are being published weekly entirely by rural school children are: Randall Schools News, joint district 2, Avon and Spring Valley; Beck School News, joint district 1, Spring Valley, Magnolia and Plymouth; Young People's News, district 1, Spring Valley; Royal Citizen, district 4, Bradford; Smithton School Journal, district 5, Bradford; Kemand 2, Turtle and La Prairie; Newark School News, district 5, Newark; Spring Brook Journal, joint district 11, Lima and Whitewater; Magnolia Star, district 3, Magnolia.

Each paper runs national news, district and school events, cartoons, jokes and stories.

NEAR EAST WILL WIN IN COUNTY

Reports from various cities and villages give assurance that Rock county will go over the top within a few days in the Near East Relief campaign for the support of 250 Armenian orphans, John Gross, county secretary, said today.

Rev. Willard has reported Beloit's total will be 112 orphans, 12 churches and 20 organizations contributing.

While Egerton has not gone over, E. W. Kramer, chairman, says the city is working hard to make its quota.

Orfordville has been held up because of illness. Miss Nellie Gaarder, chairman, assures success there this week.

Rev. Father McDermott, Evansville, today sent in a check for $104, the contributions of the Catholic churches at Footville and Evansville. He also sent in a personal check for $5. R. M. Richmond is chairman there.

The local Christian Science church sent in a check for $145.62, which leaves four orphans still to be adopted before this city goes over the top.

WHY
The Dry Cleaner is Busy at EASTER TIME

If there is one day more than any other on which a man wants to look his very, very best, it is EASTER SUNDAY.

With clothing prices as high as they are, many feel that it is almost foolish to buy as many new clothes as in former years. And, anyway, last year's spring suit will look just exactly like a new one, if sent to this expert dry-cleaning establishment.

Hundreds of men are thinking this way and that is why the dry-cleaner is rushed with work just before EASTER. Please then get your order in early so that we may be able to serve you in our usual, efficient way.
